NEWBORN BRAIN SOCIETY

The Newborn Brain Society (NBS) is a non-profit organization with a mission to advance newborn brain care through international multidisciplinary collaboration, education, and innovation among clinicians, scientists, and parents. The organization was incorporated in August 2019 and welcomed its first members in January 2020.

The NBS has developed outstanding resources, including:

- Weekly webinars available free to the public and archived online for members
- Review publications covering important topics in Neonatal Neurology including a double issue on the management of neonatal encephalopathy in Seminars of Fetal and Neonatal Medicine
- Resources for research and quality improvement projects

In 2022, the NBS assumed operations of the International Newborn Brain Conference, and will host the next conference in Clearwater, FL February 8-11, 2023. The NBS welcomes new members year-round. Membership is free for trainees! For more information, contact info@newbornbrainsociety.org.
